ABSTRACT

Financial data of the 1992-93 school year were collected from 86 of the 99 surveyed Class C school districts in Montana, which range in size from 56 to 484 students in Grades K-12. This report consists almost entirely of data tables providing information on enrollment, taxable valuation, guaranteed tax base per mill, general fund budget, permissive mills, permissive levy as percent of general fund, voted mills, voted mills as percent of general fund, general fund reserve as percent of general fund, cost to general fund per student without special education, special education budget, transportation budget, teacher salaries as percent of total general fund, teacher-enrollment ratio, and salary schedules. Each area is broken down into elementary, high school, and K-12, and presented in rank order. Salary schedules include teachers, instructional aides, noncertified staff, and extra duty assignments. The appendix contains copies of the completed survey returned by each participating school district. (SV)

INTRODUCTION

This 1992-93 Class C Survey represents the twelfth year the Rural Education Center has collected financial data on the Class C schools. To try to make this information more useful to a variety of groups we met with the people who do the AA-A and the B surveys. However, we did not change some of the data collection which would have conformed our data to that in the other two surveys, because our primary audience, Class C school administrators and trustees, have asked for specific information.

There are a two new features in this report. Because of a change in legislation, there are now K-12 school districts, so the data for those eight districts is listed separately except where total numbers are presented. The other change is in the area of salaries. In the past, salary information had been collected for bachelor degree level at zero years, five years and seven years, and at the masters degree level at zero years, five year and seven years. This year's salary information is done in a format which is compatible with the Class B and AA-A surveys. It is listed as base salary, average salary, highest salary on the negotiated contract, and highest salary actually paid.

This year we began the data collection earlier so that we could get 100 percent return, however, that is not the case. There are 99 Class C school districts presently in the state of Montana. They vary in student enrollment from Rocky Boy with 484 students, K-12, to Flaxville with 56 students, K-12. Of this number 95 are public schools, while four are private schools. Eighty-six returned our survey including two of the private schools. When we followed-up with phone calls, we were informed by several administrators that they would not be participating this year, because they did not want to be publicly compared to other schools, and the past surveys had made it difficult to pass mill levies with their local voters. This is most unfortunate. While this information is indeed public, going to Helena and getting it from the Office of Public Instruction for these eleven schools (OPI does not keep this sort of data on private schools) is time consuming. We do want to thank those schools who did participate.

Obviously, a return of 86 is still an 87 percent return rate which is good for any survey. However, not all the items include all 86 schools, because in a few cases the information was given in a way that it was not compatible.

We hope and believe that those who use The Class C Survey will find it most worthwhile, and we will appreciate any feedback that we receive.

This survey is published as a service to the small schools of Montana by the Rural Education Center of Western Montana College of The University of Montana.
